HARD GOLF BATTLES

W. Tuckerman Only Local Man Left in Baltimore Tourney.

DEFEAT TRAVIS

BALTIMORE, Md., May 11.-The sixteen which are to determine who are to play in the semi-finals of the invitation golf tournament were held yesterday morning and afternoon at the Baltimore Country Club. The weather conditions could not have been better for a golf match, there being hardly any wind to interfere with the players. In the morning there was a slight breeeze, but not enough to cause trouble. The semifinals and the finals of the tournament will be held today.

The attraction of the day at the tournament yesterday was the playing of W. J. Travis. Mr. Travis had quite a large crowd following him around the links, and many were new to the golfing game who watched his fine work. In the first round of the first match Travis defeated T. Courtney Jenkins with 1 up. In the second round he defeated D. Clarke Corkran, with 6 up and 5 to play.

Although there will be several local golfers in the semi-finals today, the Baltimorean who will most likely come out on the top is B. Warren Corkran. Corkran played sensational golf Thursday, and in the qualifying round he was only beaten out by Travis by one putt. M. Tyson Ellicott of the Baltimore Country Club has a pretty good chance to get into the finals. One of the most dangerous men in the semi-finals who has as good a chance as any one is Wolcott Tuckerman. Tuckerman has a steady nerve, and considering his knowledge of the game and his experience he should be heard from, and may spring a surprise by beating Travis.

Besides the semi-finals and the finals today there will be a handicap match. In this event those in the finals of the invitation tournament will not be eligible to compete. So far the tourney has proved to be the best ever held in the state. or, in fact, the best ever held in Yesterday's scores in the five sixteens
